The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences
California State University, San Bernardino

2020 Honors and Awards

Hello! I am Rafik Mohamed, Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. It is my pleasure to recognize these outstanding students for their hard work, for their intellectual growth, and their individual success, in our 25th Annual Student Awards for the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences.

Obtaining a postsecondary degree requires a tremendous amount of support services and cooperation among a wide variety of organizational units at the university to take a freshman or transfer student from the point of entry through graduation.

It takes faculty, staff, supporters, and leaders. We appreciate your support. Many of our friends, faculty, and staff and alumni make contributions to scholarships that support our students, and I thank them for their support as well.

The faculty in each discipline selected students to be honored as award winners. I am honored to work with these distinguished people, and would personally like to thank those who served on all departmental and College scholarship and awards committees.

To our award-winning students, As you all read through this year's awards program and see your names and the names of your colleagues, keep in mind the hard work of your family members and loved ones who also sacrificed in order for you to be here.

To parents, family, and friends, on behalf of the faculty and staff of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, thank you so much for joining us as we celebrated the accomplishments of your students. For our friends and alumni, thank you for your continued support. Without you, we would not be able to honor our best and brightest students. Your support ensures excellence in education.

On behalf of the College, I again congratulate you all on your hard work and achievement. I hope that you all stay safe in these challenging times and that we will all be able to see each other, in person, face to face, in the near future.

Special Appreciation to the Department Staff

Outstanding Undergraduate Award

Ginny Park

Ms. Ginny Park will complete her degree in Psychology this spring. Ms. Park has received various honors including the Stanford Summer Research Program – Amgen Foundation Scholar, NIH Funded MARC Program Recipient, PsiChi International Honors Society Member, Psychology Honors Program Recipient, and President of the Coyote Scholars Club. She was selected to be a part of the first cohort of the Coyote Research Ambassadors with the Office of Student Research. She was a Peer Leader, a student instructor, for PSYC 311 (Introduction to Experimental Psychology) for five quarters. She has been an assistant to the Associate Chair of Psychology. Ms. Park has obtained invaluable research experience through her participation in and being the student leader for many research projects related to biopsychology/neuroscience. In addition to her seven poster/paper presentations at the Society of Neuroscience and other national conferences, Ms. Park has co-authored and published with Dr. McDougall and Dr. Crawford four behavioral neuroscience research articles in prestigious journals such as Behavioral Brain Research and Eur Neuropsychopharmacol. Recently, she was accepted as a graduate student to several prestigious Ph.D. programs, including the Psychological and Brain Science Department at the University of California, Santa Barbara and the Integrative Physiology and Neuroscience Department at Washington State University. Ms. Park has accepted the offer from Washington State University.

Outstanding Graduate Award

D'Andra Johnson

Ms. D'Andra Johnson will be receiving her M.S. in Clinical/Counseling Psychology this Spring. She has received several honors and awards including the Sally Casanova Pre-Doctoral Scholar, Outstanding Graduate Student Service Award, the Albro Scholarship, the Aubrey Bonnett Scholarship, the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Program Grant, and the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Scholarship. Ms. Johnson has held several volunteer positions, working with underrepresented communities and providing needed resources including the SBCSS Student Service Counseling Center, Boys and Girls Club of Waterman Gardens, and the San Bernardino County Superintendent of Schools' Homeless Education Program. She is currently a clinical intern at the University of Redlands. In this position, she provides therapeutic services to students. She is a student worker for the San Bernardino County of Superintendent of Schools alternative education program as well as a teaching associate at CSUSB. Under the supervision of Dr. David Chavez, Ms. Johnson is conducting research with the Community and Relationship Enhancement (CARE) Lab. She is a graduate research assistant for Dr. Maria Santos. Her thesis focuses on self-stigma in first-generation college students and their mental health help-seeking behavior. In 2021-2022, Ms. Johnson plans to apply to Ph.D. programs. Her goal is to provide mental health services, teach, and conduct research with underrepresented and underserved communities.
