

Certified in Financial Forensics (CFF)

The CFF credential is granted exclusively by the AICPA to CPAs who demonstrate expertise in forensic accounting through their knowledge, skill, experience and adherence to professional standards.

Requirements

- Maintain AICPA membership in good standing
- Hold a valid and unrevoked CPA certificate or
- Pass the CFF exam and complete education requirements
- 1,000 hours of forensic accounting experience
- Sign a Declaration of Intent

Practice Areas

- Disputes and Litigation
- Economic damage calculations and due diligence
- Family law
- Fraud prevention, detection and response
- Bankruptcy, insolvency and reorganization
- Electronic data analysis

Positioned for Success

- Forensic accounting is one of the fastest growing niche areas of accounting
- Clients expect credentialed professionals in this field
- CFF's are distinguished from other financial experts through their training, experience, testing and education as a CPA.