STUDENT INTERN RESPONSIBILITIES WRPI LA-V DACIP Water Internship

To build and strengthen relationships with disadvantaged and underrepresented communities in the Los Angeles-Ventura Integrated Regional Water Management Planning (IRWMP) Area, the Community Water Internship joins college students with local agencies to assist with engagement, public affairs, and education projects or programs.

The California State University (CSU) and West Basin Municipal Water District/LA County Dept. of Flood Control run the program, and the CSU Water Resources and Policy Initiatives (WRPI) administers it.

The Community Water Internship is supported through the LA-Ventura IRWMP Disadvantaged Communities Involvement Program (DACIP) with Proposition 1 funding from the California Department of Water Resources (DWR). The internship, a core component of the three-year DACIP, provides students opportunities to learn about water management and community engagement through professional experience. It also connects students with career opportunities related to water management planning, environmental sustainability, and community organizing. Finally, as students are drawn from local CSUs and community colleges, the internship brings in and benefits members of the IRWMP who may otherwise be disconnected from the overarching DACIP.

The DACIP is intended to ensure the involvement of disadvantaged communities, economically distressed areas, or underrepresented communities in Integrated Regional Water Management planning. Over three years, the program team will gather a broad understanding of strengths and needs of these communities; they will build a bridge of familiarity between water stakeholders and community members; and they will ensure that solutions to previously documented and newly discovered needs are identified, advanced, and given every opportunity to achieve future implementation funding.

Public agencies and 501(c)3 non-profits will be eligible for the Community Water Internship and students will work on a project or program starting in summer 2018. Using the form below, your agency or non-profit can apply for funded interns to assist with a project or program. Eligible projects must include activities related to community involvement with water. This is a broad definition. The key to it is the involvement, as that is the chief goal of the funding that supports the DACIP. If you are uncertain if a particular project would qualify, you may contact Kathleen Firstenberg, Project Manager (kfirstenberg@csusb.edu), or Christina Rodriguez, Internship Manager at WRPI (chrodrig@csusb.edu).

Students from all academic departments can apply. Interest in natural resources management, public policy, environmental science, sociology, and similar fields is necessary for success in the program for both the student and the organization.

The DACIP grant provides $4,500 for undergraduate students to work 20 hours per week for a total internship of up to 360 hours at $12.50/hour. Graduate student stipends are funded at $4,500 for up to 300 hours at $15.00/hour. (For UEC employees with prior CalPERS membership, the total number of hours will be reduced to allocate for CalPERS contributions.) Students are allocated up to $560 per internship for supplies and materials, including local transportation, which students need to complete their projects (to be approved by advisors). No single item may exceed $500, including tax.

All students must complete an Online Application and submit unofficial transcripts, résumés and the Release of Liability Form prior to completing a formal application from our Human Resources office.
