

National Association for College Admission Counseling

Statement of Principles of Good Practice

Approved by 2016 Assembly

Introduction

Ethical college admission is the cornerstone of the National Association for College Admission Counseling (NACAC). Since its founding in 1937, when a select number of college and university professionals and high school counselors came together to create a Code of Ethics within the admission-counseling profession, NACAC has striven to ensure principled conduct among professionals in the recruitment of students and the transition to postsecondary education.

This code of conduct is known today as the Statement of Principles of Good Practice (SPGP).

Historically, NACAC added principles to the SPGP cumulatively, as ethical issues arose each year. In more recent years, however, the application process has become increasingly influenced by marketplace forces that raise new and complex ethical questions. In this rapidly-changing admission landscape, it is imperative for NACAC to maintain a document that includes practices and policies reflecting these new concerns for the ethical treatment of students in the admission process. As the recognized leader in college admission counseling, NACAC willingly carries the responsibility of being the only association that protects students' rights in the transition to postsecondary education process, through monitoring and enforcing ethical standards and practices.

Member schools, colleges and universities, as well as other institutions, organizations and individuals dedicated to the pursuit of higher education, believe in the dignity, worth and potential of each and every student. To enable all students to make the dream of higher education a reality, these institutions and individuals develop and provide programs and services in postsecondary counseling, admission and financial aid. They strive to eliminate bias within the education system based on ethnicity, creed, gender, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, age, political affiliation, national origin, and disability. They understand and value the importance of college counseling and view it as a fundamental aspect of their job as educators.

They support, therefore, the following Statement of Principles of Good Practice of the National Association for College Admission Counseling.

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Introduction

Core Values

Core Values represent statements of the association's vision and beliefs and are the purview of the Board of Directors.

Professionalism

We believe our work in counseling, admission and enrollment management is professional only to the extent that we subscribe to and practice ethical behavior, as stated in our Member Conventions. We are responsible for the integrity of our actions and, insofar as we can affect them, the actions of our member institutions and organizations.

Collaboration

We believe the effectiveness of our profession, college counseling, admission, and enrollment management is enhanced when we work together to promote and protect students and their best interests.

Trust

We believe our profession, college counseling, admission, and enrollment management is based upon trust, mutual respect and honesty, with one another and with students.

Education

We believe in and are committed to educating students, their families, the public, fellow education professionals, and ourselves about the transition to and within postsecondary education.

Fairness and Equity

We believe our members have a responsibility to treat one another and students in a fundamentally fair and equitable manner.

Social Responsibility

We believe we have a duty to serve students responsibly, by safeguarding their rights and their access to and within postsecondary education.

II. Postsecondary Members—Mandatory Practices

A. Promotion and Recruitment

All postsecondary members agree they will:

- * 1. state clearly the requirements for the first-year and transfer admission and enrollment processes, including secondary school preparation, standardized testing, financial aid, housing and notification deadlines, and refund procedures;
- 2. not knowingly recruit students who are enrolled or registered or have initiated deferred admission, declared their intent or submitted contractual deposits to other institutions, unless the students initiate inquiries themselves or unless cooperation is sought from institutions that provide transfer programs.

B. Admission, Financial Aid and Testing Policies and Procedures

All postsecondary members agree they will:

- 1. accept full responsibility for admission and financial aid decisions and for proper notification of those decisions to candidates;

- * 3. permit first-year candidates for fall admission to choose among offers of admission and institutionally-affiliated financial aid and scholarships until May 1, and state this deadline explicitly in their offers of admission, and not establish policies nor engage in practices whose effect is to manipulate commitments prior to May 1;³
- * 4. not offer exclusive incentives that provide opportunities for students applying or admitted Early Decision that are not available to students admitted under other admission options;
- * 5. work with their institutions' senior administrative officers to ensure that housing options are not used to manipulate commitments prior to May 1;
- * 6. establish wait list procedures that ensure that no student on any wait list is asked for a deposit to remain on the wait list or for a commitment to enroll prior to receiving an official written offer of admission. Written notification may include mail or electronic communications;

- 8. notify accepted aid applicants of financial aid decisions before the enrollment confirmation deadline, assuming all requested application forms are received on time;
- 9. clearly state policies on renewal of financial aid that typically include a review of students' current financial circumstances;
- * 10. not knowingly offer financial aid packages to students committed to attend other institutions, unless the students initiate such inquiries. Athletic scholarships, which adhere to nationally-established signing periods, are a recognized exception to this provision;
- * 11. initially report on all first-year admitted or enrolled students, including special subgroups in the reporting of test scores. If data on subgroup populations are also provided, clear explanations of who is included in the subgroup population will be made;

- * 12. not establish any application deadlines for first-year candidates for fall admission prior to October 15 and will give equal consideration to all applications received by that date;
- 13. not notify first-year candidates for fall admission prior to the receipt of a transcript that reflects completion of the final semester of the junior year of high school or the equivalent. Institutions that require only an application prior to extending an offer of admission, including many community colleges, may accept students at the time of application.

- * 2. provide, as permissible by law, accurate descriptions of the candidates' personal qualities relevant to the admission process;
- 3. sign only one pending Early Decision or Restricted Early Action agreement, when applicable, for any student;
- 4. follow, when applicable, the process used by the candidates' high schools for filing college applications;
- 5. not reveal, unless authorized, candidates' college or university preferences
- * 6. work with school officials and other relevant individuals to keep test results confidential as governed by law and local regulations;
- 7. report on all students within a distinct class (freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior) and subgroups, including non-native speakers, in the reporting of standardized test scores.

Statement of Principles of Good Practice

Interpretations of Mandatory Practices

The following statements correspond with the same statement number in the Mandatory Practices section.

I. All Members—Interpretations and Monitoring

A. Promotion and Recruitment

All members agree they will:

1. accurately represent and promote their schools, institutions, organizations or services by:
 - a. having and maintaining an official policy regarding the collection, calculation and reporting of institutional statistics. This must include a process for validating all institutional data;
 - b. providing precise information about their academic majors and degree programs. Such information shall include a factual and accurate description of majors, minors, concentrations, and/or interdisciplinary offerings that apply toward the completion of the undergraduate degree;
 - c. describing in detail any special programs, including overseas study, credit by examination or advanced placement.

2. not use disparaging comparisons of secondary or postsecondary institutions.
 - a. Members will refrain from publicly disseminating biased, unflattering and/or potentially inaccurate information about secondary or postsecondary institutions, their admission criteria and/or their curricular offerings.

3. not offer or accept any reward or remuneration from a secondary school, college, university, agency, or organization for placement or recruitment of students in the United States.

Members will:

 - a. be compensated in the form of a fixed salary, rather than commissions or bonuses based on the number of students recruited;
 - b. not contract with secondary school personnel for remunerations for referred students.

4. not employ agents who are compensated on a per capita basis¹ when recruiting students outside the United States, unless ensuring they and their agents conduct themselves with accountability, transparency, and integrity;

Members will:

 - a. ensure institutional accountability by monitoring the actions of those commission-based agents acting on the institution's behalf;

¹ Footnote: Per capita compensation means that agents are compensated based on each student recruited. This is also referred to as "commission-based" recruiting.

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Interpretations of Mandatory Practices

- b. ensure transparency with a conspicuous statement on their website that indicates their institution uses agents who are compensated on a per capita basis;
 - c. ensure integrity by dealing ethically and impartially with applicants and other stakeholders, honoring commitments and acting in a manner that respects the trust and confidence placed in the institutions and the individuals representing them;
 - d. adhere to US recruitment and remuneration laws (US Higher Education Act) for US citizens, where applicable;
 - e. not contract with secondary school personnel for remunerations for referred students.
5. be responsible for compliance with applicable laws and regulations with respect to students' rights to privacy by:
- a. establishing policies with respect to secondary school and college and university representatives for the release of students' names. Any policy that authorizes the release of students' names should indicate that the release be made only with the students' permission and be consistent with applicable laws and regulations;
 - b. recognizing that permission may take the form of a general consent to release of the students' names;
 - c. abiding by regulations in the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), when applicable.

B. Admission, Financial Aid and Testing Policies and Procedures

All members agree they will:

- 1. not publicly announce the amount of need-based aid awarded to any student without his/her permission.
 - a. Given the complexity of aid packaging and the possibility that merit-based scholarships may also have some basis in financial need, members must take great care in publishing or posting, electronically or in print, the scholarship amounts of individual students when doing so may inadvertently reveal information about need-based awards.
- 3. not make unethical or unprofessional requests of other admission counseling professionals.

Examples of unprofessional or unethical requests could include:

 - a. making disparaging remarks about the services of school-based counselors or independent counselors when responding to requests from parents or students;
 - b. independent counselors contacting school officials directly, instead of working through their clients for academic or personal information;

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Interpretations of Mandatory Practices

- c. coercing or demeaning postsecondary institutional representatives if such institutions are unable to participate or attend local school events;
 - d. offering favors in return for counselors' listings of their best or strongest students for recruitment purposes;
 - e. creating an expectation of entitlement with regard to admission to specific institutions.
4. send and receive information about candidates in confidence by honoring all applicable laws and regulations with respect to the confidential nature of such data. Members will honor applicable school policies, laws, regulations including the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).
Examples include:
 - a. admission officers not revealing the admission or denial status of applicants when using website or group email announcements;
 - b. secondary school personnel should not post lists of admitted students to specific colleges when doing so reveals applicants denied admission.
5. consider transcripts official only when transmitted in a confidential manner, from the secondary or postsecondary institution(s) attended by the applicant.
 - a. The receiving institution will have full discretion in determining preferred and/or acceptable methods of transmission.
6. not use minimum test scores as the sole criterion for admission, advising or for the awarding of financial aid.
 - a. Financial aid is defined as grants, loans, work-study, and scholarships. This practice does not apply to scholarship and financial aid programs that fall under state mandates.
8. provide in a timely manner, accurate, legible, and complete transcripts for all students for admission or scholarships.
 - a. A complete transcript includes all attempted courses. However, when school and/or district policy prohibits the inclusion of all coursework, the transcript or school profile must state the institutional policies on recording repeated courses and indicate whether grades from all courses attempted are included in the cumulative GPA calculation.
9. counsel students to abide by the application requirements and restrictions when they file.
 - a. The use of multiple admission plans may be confusing or potentially misleading, especially when postsecondary members define them inconsistently or identify them by other names. While members may use other application plans, since the ones known as Regular Decision, Rolling Admission, Early Action, Early

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Interpretations of Mandatory Practices

Decision, and Restrictive Early Action are in common use, members must identify them by those names and abide by the definitions and conditions below when implementing them.

10. Non-Restrictive Application Plans: All of these plans allow students to wait until May 1 to confirm enrollment.

Regular Decision is the application process in which a student submits an application to an institution by a specified date and receives a decision within a reasonable and clearly stated period of time. A student may apply to other institutions without restriction.

Rolling Admission is the application process in which an institution reviews applications as they are completed and renders admission decisions to students throughout the admission cycle. A student may apply to other institutions without restriction.

Early Action (EA) is the application process in which students apply to an institution of preference and receive a decision well in advance of the institution's regular response date. Students admitted under Early Action are not obligated to accept the institution's offer of admission or to submit a deposit prior to May 1. Under non-restrictive Early Action, a student may apply to other colleges.

Restrictive Application Plans: These are plans that allow institutions to limit students from applying to other early plans.

Early Decision (ED) is the application process in which students make a commitment to a first-choice institution where, if admitted, they definitely will enroll. While pursuing admission under an Early Decision plan, students may apply to other institutions, but may have only one Early Decision application pending at any time. Should a student who applies for financial aid not be offered an award that makes attendance possible, the student may decline the offer of admission and be released from the Early Decision commitment. The institution must notify the applicant of the decision within a reasonable and clearly stated period of time after the Early Decision deadline. Usually, a nonrefundable deposit must be made well in advance of May 1. The institution will respond to an application for financial aid at or near the time of an offer of admission.

Institutions with Early Decision plans may restrict students from applying to other early plans. Institutions will clearly articulate their specific policies in their Early Decision agreement.

Restrictive Early Action (REA) is the application process in which students make application to an institution of preference and receive a decision well in advance of the institution's regular response date. Institutions with Restrictive Early Action plans place restrictions on student applications to other early plans. Institutions will clearly articulate these restrictions in their Early Action policies and agreements with students. Students admitted under Restrictive Early Action are not obligated to accept the institution's offer of admission or to submit a deposit prior to May 1.

II. Postsecondary Members—Interpretations and Monitoring

A. Promotion and Recruitment

All postsecondary members agree they will:

1. state clearly the requirements for the first-year and transfer admission and enrollment processes, including secondary school preparation, standardized testing, financial aid, housing and notification deadlines, and refund procedures by:
 - a. being responsible for the accurate representation and promotion of their admission calendar, academic offerings, housing application and deposit deadlines and campus and community descriptions written and electronic communications and presentations for students, parents and counseling personnel;
 - b. being responsible for the development of publications, written communications presentations, i.e., college nights, college days and college fairs, used for their institutions' promotional and recruitment activities;
 - c. stating clearly and precisely the requirements for secondary preparation, admission tests and transfer student admission;
 - d. providing students, families and secondary schools with the most comprehensive information about costs of attendance and opportunities for all types of financial aid, and state the specific relationship between and among admission and financial aid practices and policies;
 - e. providing accurate information about opportunities/selection for institutional housing, deadline dates for housing deposits, housing deposit refunds, and describing policies for renewal availability of such institutional housing;
 - f. speaking forthrightly, accurately and comprehensively when presenting their institutions to counseling personnel, prospective students and their families;
 - g. identifying the source and year of study when institutional publications and/or media communications cite published academic programs, academic rigor or reputations, or athletic rankings;
 - h. providing accurate and specific descriptions of any special programs or support services available to students with handicapping conditions, physical and/or learning disabilities and/or other special needs;
 - i. clearly stating all deadlines (including time zone) for application, notification, housing, and candidates' reply requirements for both admission and financial aid;
 - j. clearly publicizing policies relating to placement by tests, awarding of credit and other policies based on test results.

B. Admission, Financial Aid and Testing Policies and Procedures

All postsecondary members agree they will:

2. not ask candidates, their schools, their counselors or others to list or rank order their college or university preferences on applications or other documents;²
 - a. postsecondary members can assess their candidates' level of interest, but not by asking them to indicate a first choice or to rank order or name their other college choices;
 - b. students are considered "candidates" until they have officially confirmed their intention to enroll, usually by submitting an enrollment or tuition deposit, or have declined their offer of admission, or have had their offer of admission canceled.
 - c. Postsecondary members may require documentation, even when it might divulge the name of another institution, to support a candidate's appeal of an admission, financial aid, or scholarship decision, but only when that appeal has been initiated by the candidate and only when the appeal makes reference to an offer from another institution.

3. permit first-year candidates for fall admission to choose among offers of admission and institutionally-affiliated financial aid and scholarships until May 1, and state this deadline explicitly in their offers of admission, and not establish policies nor engage in practices whose effect is to manipulate commitments prior to May 1;³
 - a. It is understood that May 1 will be viewed as the postmark and/or submission date for electronic submissions. When May 1 falls on a Sunday or holiday, May 2 becomes the recognized date;
 - b. offers of admission must clearly state whether deposits submitted by students prior to May 1 are refundable or non-refundable. Making a deposit refundable, however, still obligates an institution to abide by the May 1 Candidates Reply Date;
 - c. colleges will neither retract nor adversely alter their offers of admission and/or financial aid prior to May 1 for candidates who choose not to reply until that date, nor will they state or imply that candidates might incur such a penalty by waiting until May 1 (including time zone) to submit an enrollment deposit;
 - d. the May 1 deadline also applies to any academic major or special program to which the candidate has been offered admission. Examples of special programs can include, but are not limited to, honors programs, dual-enrollment master's, or professional-degree programs;
 - e. candidates admitted under an Early Decision program are a recognized exception to this practice.

² Footnote: Not asking students to rank order college choices is already in force. Not asking them to name their choices will apply to the 2017 admissions cycle.

³ Footnote: Effective for the 2017 admission cycle.

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Interpretations of Mandatory Practices

4. not offer exclusive incentives that provide opportunities for students applying or admitted Early Decision that are not available to students admitted under other admission options.
 - a. Examples of exclusive incentives include special dorms for ED admits, honors programs only for ED admits, full, need-based financial aid packages for ED admits only, special scholarships for ED admits only, any promise of an advantage in the admission process if student(s) convert from Regular Admission to Early Decision.
5. work with their institutions' senior administrative officers to ensure that housing options are not used to manipulate commitments prior to May 1.
 - a. While it is understood that institutions with limited housing may need to adopt a first-come, first-served policy for assigning on-campus housing, it is recommended that any enrollment or housing deposits they require to secure on-campus housing should be fully refundable if the student cancels admission by May 1. It is at the discretion of each institution whether to refund fees associated with applications/contracts, but deposits should be refunded.
6. establish wait list procedures that ensure that no student on any wait list is asked for a deposit to remain on the wait list or for a commitment to enroll prior to receiving an official written offer of admission. Written notification may include mail or electronic communications.
 - a. Wait list is an admission decision option utilized by institutions to protect against shortfalls in enrollment, in light of fluctuations in yields. By placing a student on the wait list, an institution does not initially offer or deny admission, but extends to the candidate the possibility of admission not later than August 1;
 - b. institutions should state if they are recognizing the time zone for the institution's location or student's location.
7. state the specific relationship among admission and financial aid practices and policies. Colleges and universities may apply enrollment strategies to decisions to admit, wait list or deny students on the basis of stated or unstated financial need. Examples include:
 - a. colleges that might prioritize wait lists by students' level of financial need;
 - b. institutions that employ "need aware" admission for the bottom 10 percent of the class.
10. not knowingly offer financial aid packages to students committed to attend other institutions, unless the students initiate such inquiries. Athletic scholarships, which adhere to nationally-established signing periods, are a recognized exception to this provision.

- a. The National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) has established bylaws, operational manuals and legislative directives guiding Division I, II, and III sports for men and women. Each NCAA division has its own set of rules and bylaws that govern intercollegiate athletics. In addition to divisional regulations, there are playing rules committees that set rules for specific sports. Each sport includes calendars regulating quiet periods, dead periods, evaluation periods, contact periods, and eventually, National Letter of Intent signing dates that occur in November, February and April. All such dates are in advance of May 1, the National Candidates Reply Date for admission. NACAC will continue to work with the NCAA to recognize May 1 as a critical date on the admission calendar. For more information on NCAA deadlines, dates and requirements, visit www.NCAA.org.

11. initially report on all first-year admitted or enrolled students, including subgroups in the reporting of test scores. If data on subgroup populations are also provided, clear explanations of who is included in the subgroup population will be made.
 - a. Postsecondary members will furnish data describing the currently enrolled freshman class and will describe in published profiles all members of the enrolling freshman class;
 - b. subgroups within the profile may be presented separately because of their unique character or special circumstances.
12. not establish any application deadlines for first-year candidates for fall admission prior to October 15 and will give equal consideration to all applications received by that date.
 - a. Colleges and universities may welcome the initiation of applications from first-year students prior to the notification date and earliest application deadlines. Any incentives offered, including but not limited to application fee waivers, essay waivers, scholarships, housing, etc., must be honored at least through October 15;
 - b. the earliest application deadline does not apply to juniors who have completed their requirements for high school graduation and are seeking early admission or joint opportunities to attend high school and community or postsecondary institutions. Admission officers should advise secondary school counselors of their policies to ensure compliance.

III. Counseling Members—Interpretations and Monitoring

A. Promotion and Recruitment

All counseling members agree they will:

1. establish a policy for the release of students' names and other confidential information, consistent with applicable laws and regulations.
 - a. permission may be a general consent to any release of the students' names;
 - b. secondary school members should be sensitive to the students' academic, athletic or other abilities, when releasing students' names.

B. Admission, Financial Aid and Testing Policies and Procedures

All counseling members agree they will:

1. provide colleges and universities with a description of the school's marking system, if available, that will provide some indication of grade distribution that may include the rank in class and/or grade point average.
 - a. Members will disclose and clearly explain any type of weighing system that is used in determining class rank, grade point average and/or individual grades.
2. provide, as permissible by law, accurate descriptions of the candidates' personal qualities relevant to the admission process.
 - a. The phrase "permissible by law" includes school policies as well as state or local regulations governing the release of student information;
 - b. counselors or school personnel will provide as much information as permitted by the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) and/or applicable school, local or state policies with the understanding that permission may take the form of a general consent to any release of student information.
6. work with school officials and other relevant individuals to keep test results confidential as governed by law and local regulations.
 - a. School personnel should recognize that individual test scores are the property of the student and should not be revealed for any purpose without prior permission;
 - b. if individual test score information is requested or required by a postsecondary institution or third party, counselors and school personnel will honor the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) and/or applicable school, local or state policies and regulations. Permission may take the form of a general consent to any release of student information.

Statement of Principles of Good Practice

Best Practices

I. All Members—Best Practices

All members should:

- A. indicate that their institutions are NACAC members and have endorsed the principles contained in the association's Statement of Principles of Good Practice (SPGP);
- B. inform those involved in counseling students in the postsecondary process about the content of the SPGP;
- C. be sensitive to students applying for admission to postsecondary institutions in other countries that may have different deadlines and timelines than those in the United States;
- D. familiarize themselves with published inter-association standards for educational and psychological testing, particularly with respect to test score use and interpretation, test bias and score differences between subgroups;
- E. educate staff in understanding the concepts of test measurement, test interpretation, and test use so they may consider standardized tests in their appropriate context. Such education may be obtained from NACAC, institutions of higher education, or other associations independent of companies that sponsor the test or test preparation activities or have stated positions for or against test usage. In addition, all members that make use of admission tests should acquire education and/or training in the appropriate use of specific tests from the sponsoring agencies.

II. Postsecondary Members—Best Practices

A. Promotion and Recruitment

All postsecondary members should:

1. exercise appropriate responsibility for all people whom the institution involves in admission, promotional and recruitment activities (including alumni, coaches, students, faculty, and other institutional representatives);
2. be responsible for assuring that admission consulting or management firms engaged by the institution adhere to the principles of the SPGP.
3. In contracts with third party representatives, require those representatives to disclose to their student clients any institutions who are compensating them. In their promotional material for international students, institutions should offer to verify whether they have authorized any third party agents to represent them and indicate how students may request this verification.

B. Admission, Financial Aid and Testing Policies and Procedures

All postsecondary members should:

1. provide in the notification letter or electronic communication of those applicants offered a place on the wait list a history that describes the number of students offered places on the wait lists, the number accepting places, the number offered admission, and the availability of financial aid and housing;
2. allow students a reasonable amount of time (at least 72 hours or May 1, whichever is later) to respond to an offer of admission from that institution's wait list and gain admission to that institution's incoming class. This offer

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Best Practices

- of admission should be a written or electronic communication to the student. Postsecondary institutions should also strive to fully inform wait list students of their financial aid and housing opportunities, if different from their normal policies. Postsecondary institutions should not require a commitment from a student until the financial aid award and housing options, if any, have been provided;
3. make applicants aware, in official communications, of summer or mid-year admission if such programs are available;
 4. not apply newly-revised requirements to the disadvantage of candidates whose secondary school courses were established in accordance with earlier requirements;
 5. not discriminate in the admission selection process against applicants based on the particular application form they use, provided that the college or university has agreed explicitly to accept the particular version of the application;
 6. admit candidates on the basis of academic and personal criteria rather than financial need. This provision does not apply to international students ineligible for federal student assistance;
 7. not allow admission, financial aid, or scholarship decisions to be influenced by a list or rank ordering of a candidate's other college choices. This includes, but is not limited to, lists obtained from financial aid applications, testing agencies, or other sources;⁴
 8. conduct institutional research to inquire into the most effective use of tests for admission decisions;
 9. refrain from the public reporting of mean and median admission test scores and, instead, report scores by the middle 50 percent of the scores of all first-year applicants, admitted and/or enrolled students;
 10. view financial aid as supplementary to the efforts of students' families when students are not self-supporting;
 11. meet the full need of accepted students to the extent possible, within the institutions' capabilities;
 12. state that eligibility for, and packaging of, need-based and merit aid will be comparable for students admitted under Early and Regular programs;
 13. refrain from asking students where else they have applied;
 14. utilize an equitable process of needs analysis methodology in making expected estimates or awards of the amount of financial aid that may be available to students after documentation is provided;
 15. include a current and accurate admission calendar in publications and websites. If the institution offers special admission options, such as Early Admission, Early Action, Early Decision, wait lists, or Restrictive Early Admission, the publication should define these programs and state deadline dates (including time zone), notification dates, required deposits, refund policies, and the date when the candidates must reply;
 16. notify secondary schools, when possible, of admission decisions in a timely and proper manner;

⁴ Footnote: Effective for the 2017 admission cycle.

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Best Practices

17. report test scores for special subgroups that may include athletes or non-native speakers. Universities with more than one undergraduate division may report first by division and then by special subgroups within divisions. Clear explanations of who is included in the subgroup should be made. Those institutions that do not require tests or for which tests are optional will only report scores if the institution clearly and emphatically states the limits of the scores being reported;
18. clearly publicize policies, such as placement and awarding of credit, based on test results;

III. Counseling Members—Best Practices

A. Admission, Financial Aid and Testing Policies and Procedures

All counseling members should:

1. provide programs of counseling that introduce a broad range of postsecondary opportunities to students;
2. encourage students and their families to take initiative in learning about colleges and universities;
3. provide information about opportunities and requirements for financial aid;
4. urge students to understand and discharge their responsibilities in the admission process in a timely manner;
5. counsel students and their families to notify and withdraw applications from other institutions when they have accepted an admission offer;
6. encourage students to be the sole authors of their applications and essays and counsel against inappropriate assistance on the parts of others;
7. report any significant change in a candidate's academic status or qualifications, including personal school conduct record between the time of recommendation and graduation, where permitted by applicable law;
8. establish a written policy on disclosure of disciplinary infractions in their communications to colleges;
9. provide a school profile, when applicable, that clearly describes special curricular opportunities (e.g., honors, advanced placement courses, seminars) and a comprehensive listing of all courses with an explanation of unusual abbreviations and any information required for proper understanding;

Statement of Principles of Good Practice Best Practices

10. inform students about the tests needed for admission, where students may take them, how to interpret the results, and how test results are used for admission;
11. report, in the case of secondary schools, the middle 50 percent of all students tested by discrete grade level;
12. refrain from encouraging students to apply to particular colleges and universities to enhance the high schools' statistical records regarding the number or amount of scholarship awards received;
13. counsel students not to submit more than one admission deposit, which indicates their intent to enroll at more than one institution;
14. work with school officials and other relevant individuals to keep test results in perspective;
15. counsel students to comply with requests for information in a timely manner;
16. counsel students who have deferred admission that they should follow any conditions imposed by the deferring institution.
