Subject: National Library Workers Day

Dear Colleagues,

Please join me in celebrating the amazing faculty, professional staff, student employees, and leadership of our CSUSB libraries during National Library Week (NLW), April 7-13, 2024. Indeed, a mere week doesn't do justice to all our campus libraries do to support, enrich, and educate our Coyote family and the larger community. In fact, let me rephrase that. Our libraries are merely physical spaces that would be just that – corporeal shells – if not for the commitment and passion of the librarians, staff, and leadership who have transformed our campus libraries into remarkable spaces for community, learning, creating a sense of belonging, and of course just chilling, lamping, and lounging.

Sincerely,

Rafik
