UHP'S UNOFFICIAL MASCOT

The University Honors Program wants to welcome everyone back! We hope you all had a restful Spring break, whatever that may look like for you! As we settle back into routine with classes, we want to remind you all that you are near the end! There are only six weeks left in the semester, so finish strong! Keep studying, keep going to class, and most importantly, be the best you! It will all workout in the end if you put the effort in.

APRIL
STUDENT
SPOTLIGHT

Princess Cassell is a first-year Honors student majoring in Kinesiology - Allied Health. She was inspired to get into this due to her love of basketball, science & medicine. Her hobbies include thrifting, crocheting, & hanging out with friends! She is on the CSUSB Women's Basketball team and made the CNS Dean's List last semester! Princess feels that the Honors Program has ensured her voice is heard and helped her connect with other students & professors on a new level. She plans to pursue a career in Sports Med. and professional Basketball!

Fun Fact!
She scored over 1000 points in her HS basketball career & loves collecting squishmallows!

RECOGNIZING CSUSB OUTSTANDING RESEARCH AWARDEES

Logan Ashbaugh is a 1st M.s. computer science student at CSUSB with a focus on sentiment analysis and machine learning. His academic interests include data pattern discovery and game development methodologies. Driven by a passion for expanding the boundaries of machine learning, Logan aims to uncover insights not easily accessible to human perception. He currently works as a programmer at CSUSB's great lab, supporting education projects.

Rachel Kanter, a 4th psychology student at CSUSB, focuses on the psychological impact of intergenerational poverty, trauma, & interpersonal violence. Her research explores traits, beliefs & contexts linked to moral injury in survivors of intimate partner and childhood sexual abuse. She has undertaken multiple research projects, co-founded the WAVE lab, and interned at Harvard's Human Flourishing program.

LOGAN IS AN HONORS ALUMNI &
RACHEL IS A CURRENT HONORS STUDENT!
