

Dear Coyotes, Colleagues, Alumni and Supporters,

I'm pleased to share the launch of CSU Voices, a new California State University systemwide e-advocacy initiative that brings together students, faculty, staff, alumni and supporters to advocate for the future of the CSU.

Higher education is facing unprecedented challenges, from state budget shortfalls to federal policy decisions that could impact access and affordability. Through this initiative, we can activate the entire CSU Community so their voice is heard, and they can act when it matters most.

Through CSU Voices, those that sign up will receive timely updates and opportunities to advocate via email and text on issues that directly affect student success and the CSU. These will include everything from the California State budget to federal programs like Pell and others which support student success.

Sincerely,

Tomás D. Morales
