Campus Accessibility Guide Website Launch

Jennifer S. announced the launch of the new Campus Accessibility Guide website, replacing the previous PDF format. The new platform addresses accessibility concerns and allows information to be updated more efficiently. Committee members were asked to review their department information and provide any revisions before the next meeting.

Disability at CSUSB Newsletter

Jessica Block Nerren, Faculty Fellow for Disability Inclusion, shared updates on the Disability at CSUSB newsletter, which currently reaches approximately 700 subscribers on and off campus. The newsletter highlights disability-related initiatives, accomplishments, and resources. Contact Jess with disability-related initiatives, news, or articles to be featured in the Disability at CSUSB newsletter.

Campus Accessibility Enhancements

Jennifer S. reported several recent accessibility improvements across campus. An automatic door operator was installed in Chaparral Hall 130 to improve access for a student who uses a wheelchair. In University Hall restrooms, mirrors were lowered to align with accessible sink heights, and additional restroom accessibility concerns, including those on the second floor, are being evaluated. Jennifer also highlighted the successful use of ramps during commencement ceremonies at Toyota Arena and noted that the committee has recommended providing ramp access at all future events with stages as part of the university's ongoing commitment to accessibility and universal design.

Community Art Installation

Jennifer and Jess highlighted a recent art installation at the Coyote OneCard Gateway featuring artwork created by Grant, a community member with profound autism. The project generated meaningful conversations about neurodiversity, inclusion, and independent living among staff, students, and visitors.

Website Accessibility Monitoring

John shared updates regarding Pope Tech's expanded accessibility scanning capabilities, which now identify inaccessible PDFs and broken links in addition to website issues. Departments can receive automated accessibility reports through Pope Tech accounts, helping them proactively address compliance concerns. Contact John if a Pope Tech account is needed to receive automated website accessibility reports.

SSD Student Success Coaching Program

Meigan presented information about the SSD Student Success Coaching Program. The program provides peer mentorship and individualized support for students seeking assistance with executive functioning, disability management, organization, and time management skills. Refer students who may benefit from executive functioning, disability management, or time management support to the SSD Student Success Coaching Program.

Mobility Stop Progress in Lot G

Meigan and Sabrina discussed ongoing efforts to establish a mobility stop in Lot G. Sabrina confirmed that a site review had been completed and committed to providing final confirmation regarding the location's suitability and maneuverability.

Disability Accessibility Summit

Jennifer encouraged committee members to attend the Disability Accessibility Summit scheduled for November 3 at Student Union North. The event will include presentations from university leadership and discussions focused on accessibility resources, inclusion efforts, and barrier removal across campus.

SSD Form Enhancements

Richelle recognized the successful implementation of the fillable SSD form and shared positive feedback from Health Center providers, noting that the enhancement has streamlined processes and improved efficiency.

Closing Remarks

Jennifer announced that the next Campus Accessibility Advisory Board meeting will be held during the spring semester. She encouraged members to continue sharing accessibility concerns, solutions, and resources throughout the year and offered to distribute relevant information to the committee as needed.

Sorenson adjourned the meeting at 9:45 a.m.

Next Meeting: March/April 2027
