Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to announce that after careful consideration of the search committees' recommendations, three Cal State San Bernardino faculty have been appointed to leadership roles.

Hyun-Kyoung Oh – an associate professor of kinesiology and recent inductee to CSUSB's Phi Beta Delta Gamma Lambda Chapter, the first honor society dedicated to recognizing scholarly achievement in international education – has been named faculty director of the Center of International Studies and Programs. Among her areas of responsibility, Oh will lead campus internationalization, study abroad and international scholarship efforts. She will begin her new position on April 2, reporting to Tatiana Karmanova, dean of the College of Extended Learning.

Judith (Judy) Sylva, a professor of special education and chair of the Department of Special Education, Rehabilitation & Counseling, has been appointed faculty assessment coordinator for the Office of Academic Programs. In her new role, Sylva will work closely with faculty, administration and staff to lead campus-wide efforts to assure student learning and support a culture of quality. She will assume her new role on a full-time basis, beginning July 1, and will report to Clare Weber, deputy provost and vice provost for the Office of Academic Programs.

Caroline Vickers, professor of English, graduate coordinator (M.A. in English composition) and co-director of CSUSB's Center for Health Equity, has been named faculty director of the Office of Graduate Studies. She will oversee the day-to-day activities of the office staff and will work closely with graduate student program coordinators, advisors and faculty to improve the graduate student experience at CSUSB. She will begin her new position on April 2, reporting to Dorota Huizinga, associate provost for Academic Research and dean of Graduate Studies.

Thank you to the members of the three search committees for your time and thoughtful work throughout this process.
